Welfare Activities :Working for the cause of human and social development by making people aware of environmental pollution, population explosion, AIDS control and women empowerment at community level. Working for the cause of women empowerment specially for women from socio- economically weaker sections of the society. Organising special programmes for imparting skills and instilling confidence to enable women to move from margins to mainstream and also feel empowered with training of self defense. I am also engaged in training people for disaster management at CCAT. Engaged in social activities at community level as well.

Future Plans: I am engaged in mentoring young faculties, teaching International Relations in different colleges of Delhi University. In the span of four years, Two books have already been published from Sage and Third one is accepted for publication. The purpose is to give new direction to Indian academics by creating knowledge from a Global South perspective and contribute towards decolonising the discipline of International Relations. By training faculties for creative writing from a global South perspective, I intend to give back to academics so that young scholars get encouraged to produce quality research and Indian academics gets its space at global level. That would be true democratization of the discipline and would be an enriching experience for scholars.

Administrative Experience: Working as Principal of the college has been a very enriching experience. More than 150 promotions at different levels have been planned and executed. Applied for NIRF and for NACC second cycle accreditation. New website has been created and most of the college activities are showcased on social media like FB and twitter. The college infrastructure has been improved with renovation of the building, sports infrastructure, renovation/digitisation of library, seminar rooms and auditorium, installation of CCTVs. New smart rooms and ICT enabled infrastructure is constantly under development in order to be globally competitive and also to encourage paperless work culture. Add on courses, FDPs, collaboration with research institutions and organization, quality research and webinars at national and international levels, field trips, oncampus placements are encouraged to enhance the institutional competence. Training programs for both teaching and non teaching are encouraged. Special attention is paid to empower girls by education (activated Family counseling center and Internal complaint committee). Also increasing facilities for women to work actively in a safe environment(developed girls utility room, got pink booths installed outside the college campus).The college is geared to adapt to the requirements of new education policy so that students can contribute significantly in nation building.
